

TEMPLATE

1. Print the bird patterns. Using a photocopier, enlarge the bird patterns of your choice to the desired size.
2. Place your fabric right side up, and top with transfer paper. You'll need white transfer paper for dark fabric, and dark paper for light fabric (available at sewing stores). Place the bird pattern on top of transfer paper.
3. Trace along the lines of the pattern with a ball-point pen; the pressure will transfer the paper's ink onto the fabric. Alternatively, if you are using sheer fabric, place it on top of the pattern, and trace the image directly onto the fabric with a transfer pen.

4. Stitch design onto fabric using the chain stitch. Secure fabric in an embroidery hoop, and bring needle threaded with one strand of embroidery floss through fabric from wrong side to right side, coming out at the point marked 1. Making a 1/16-inch loop, insert next to 1. Come out again at 2, holding thread under needle as you pull tight. Insert needle again next to 2, (inside the new link), and continue along pattern. To finish, knot in back.

cardinal

Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia

black-capped chickadee

Maine, Massachusetts

TEMPLATE

eastern bluebird Missouri, New York

hermit thrush
Vermont

mountain bluebird Idaho, Nevada

yellowhammer
Alabama

TEMPLATE

ruffed grouse Pennsylvania

lark bunting Colorado

scissor-tailed flycatcher
Oklahoma

common loon
Minnesota

TEMPLATE

purple finch
New Hampshire

wood thrush
Washington, D.C.

Baltimore oriole
Maryland

mockingbird
Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas

TEMPLATE

Carolina wren
South Carolina

brown pelican
Louisiana

Rhode Island red
Rhode Island

California gull
Utah

TEMPLATE

willow ptarmigan
Alaska

ring-necked pheasant South Dakota

western meadowlark
Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, Wyoming

cactus wren
Arizona

TEMPLATE

blue hen chicken
Delaware

California quail
California

American goldfinch
Iowa, New Jersey, Washington

brown thrasher
Georgia

TEMPLATE

American robin
Connecticut, Michigan, Wisconsin

roadrunner
New Mexico

nene
Hawaii